

FOOD SAFETY TRAINING AND CERTIFICATION

Food safety and sanitation are top-of-mind for consumers who now have a heightened awareness of cleaning and food handling practices. This means that it's vital for foodservice operators to ensure all employees are well trained on best practices. Thankfully, there are many opportunities for training and certification out there.

SERVSAFE®

Developed by the National Restaurant Association, ServSafe® provides food safety training, exams, and educational materials for foodservice operators. With products including food handling, alcohol, allergens, and workplace, they offer comprehensive training both online and in-person to provide a range of certifications recognized by federal, state, and local jurisdictions. Learn more at servsafe.com.

NATIONAL REGISTRY OF FOOD SAFETY PROFESSIONALS (NRFSP)

NRFSP understands the busy schedules of foodservice professionals and has catered their training to make it fast, easy, flexible, and affordable. With self-study at home, online courses, and local trainers, there are opportunities to earn certifications for food handling, food safety manager, grocery store manager, convenience store manager, and HACCP. Learn more at NRFSP.com.

STATE FOOD SAFETY

State Food Safety offers technology-enhanced programs to earn food handling and safety certification online. They have partnered with more than 150 regulatory agencies to create learning materials and courses for food handlers cart training, food manager certification & training, food allergens awareness training, alcohol server certification, and hand hygiene. Learn more at statefoodsafety.com.

360 TRAINING LEARN2SERVE™

Learn2Serve™ from 360 Training allows operators to select courses by state to help ensure that you have the certifications most pertinent to you. Each course is individually priced and available in convenient, mobile-friendly formats. For more information on their alcohol, food handler, food manager, food allergy, or cannabis trainings, visit 360training.com/learn2serve.

We're in this together and here to support you.

