

Navigating Website Enhancements

The Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) made www.SquareMeals.org more user friendly. These tips introduce recent changes and will help you obtain needed information.

1. Find Guidance on Programs for CEs and ESCs, Industry Resources, or Resources for Everyone

TDA Food and Nutrition information is now arranged by sections for each audience.

FOR CEs AND ESCs

All operational guidance and program details are available under the Programs navigation bar.

- Many items previously under F&N Resources have moved under the applicable program.
- All sub-topics under each program have been alphabetized. Use the menu to locate information.

FOR INDUSTRY

Information about how to work with TDA and contracting entities can be found under Industry Resources on the navigation bar.

FOR EVERYONE

Information about everything from accessing nutrition programs to promoting healthy lifestyles is under Public Resources on the navigation bar.

2. Use the Submenus

After identifying the area of interest, review the related submenus.

Menus appear at the top of the website and list submenus

To drill down, look below the banner of selected webpages

3. Use the Search Feature

The search feature on SquareMeals.org has been enhanced. Use it to quickly find information on a specific topic.

TIP!

SquareMeals.org contains a lot of information, some of which may apply to multiple topics or programs. Use specific keywords from a document or program to narrow your results.
